Teacher Note

This will be the last newsletter of the school year. There will be memory treasures for next week, but no spelling. I've attempted to include most important information about the end of the school year. If you have any questions about the end of the year, please don't hesitate to ask.

As I am wrapping up my final school year at St. John, I have to thank the students and parents for making it the best one yet. It has been an outstanding year of learning and fun together. God's blessings to all of you in the future.

Graduation Sunday

We look forward to celebrating our 8th grade graduates this coming Sunday in our 9:00 AM worship service. There will be a brief reception following the service for the 8th graders. 7th grade families, please fill out this Google Form to indicate your attendance. Students should arrive by 8:45 and go to their classrooms.

Milk

Milk for the school year ends today (5/16). Early next week, families will receive communication if they have an outstanding balance or extra milk credits, so please watch for a note coming home or an email about that.

Cleanout Day and Dairy Dream

Thursday 5/22 will be our desk/cubby/locker cleanout day. If you'd like to send sturdy bags for your student to use, please do.

On Thursday afternoon, our class will walk to Dairy Dream around 1:00. Students should bring their own money if they'd like to purchase food or ice cream. Any parents that would like to walk with us would also be welcome; please let me know if you'd like to join.

Last Day of School-Friday 5/23

The Eagle Express has information about the last day of school, including a link to sign up to help out in some way. Please take a look and consider how you could help out to make that day go smoothly.

Please also let me know as soon as you can if your child will not be here on the last day. This will help with planning the field day teams.

Grades/Report Cards

Any missing work not turned in by the end of the year is marked as a 0. The students have been working hard to get caught up and finish the year strong. Report cards will be mailed out in early June once the teachers finish entering grades.
